Hastening or deck, saw the Chinese passenger about 30 yards astern. The Captain instantly threw a life buoy towards the man; the helm was put down, the ship stayed, sail shortened the boat got out and after an hour and half search, the boat returned but could not find the man. It was blowing a strong squall at the time with much rain, and before the boat could reach the man or the place where he fell overboard he could not be seen from the mizen rigging. From Singapore came to the West of the Palawan Shoals and so over to the Coast of Luzon, hence to the North of Pratas and direct r Hongkong.

left that port two sailors from the S. S. Quinta had arrived there, having travelled overland from Tai Chow Island (or Tiphosa) where their vessel was wrecked. They had been dispatched by the Captain to report the wreck and to procure assistance. They reported that the Quinta had gone into the Bay at the place named on the 5th, to anshor. there and thus escape as much as possible the force of the typhoon of the 5th instant. Her chains broke however, and she drifted on shore. The natives immediately attacked the vessel and plundered her of everything worth carrying off. They then according to the statement of one of the messengers who had arrived at Holhow, set fire to the Quinto. This latter part of the story the second man denies, however stating that the fire arcse through an socident. There was no loss of life connected with the disaster to the vessel. The Captain sent a report that he had been treated kindly enough; as had all the crew and passengers by the Chinese after they had looted the ship ... The steamer Kangchi left Hollow on Sunday morning to go out and bring the Captain grew and passengers off the place where they are now, and that vessel may be expected to arrive to-morrow. The S. S. Norden reports that on her way up from Singapore she saw the Kanachi entering the Bay of Talchow. where the Quink is reported to be. he considered might stand over at the time. Extraordinary repairs would be dealt with separately. The estimates witness had spoken of referred only to incidental repairs. Anything affecting the structure and stability of the building would be reported upon specially, and if no funds were available from the regular estimates of the vear. a special vote would be applied for. Since 1878 witness was unable to say what the system had been, as the whole of his time had been given up to the Praya works. He believed however, that the inspection had been six monthly instead of quarterly. - Witness became Acting Surveyor General on the 21st of December 1880, and since then there had been no systematic inspection partly owing to the death of Mr. Prestage. the absence of the Surveyor General, an the limited staff which now existed it had not been possible to have regular respections. When the inspection and repairs on one was done another was taken in hand. Mr Prestage died in the middle of last year, and no one had been appointed in his place, until the arrival five weeks ago of Mr Howroyd. It was hoped now they would be able to resume the quarterly inspection, but none had been carried out as yet. Since the beginning of the year those inspections had been done by Mr Bain and witness. If it was anything serious witness examined the building himselfthat was if there were an ant eaten beam or a cracked wall. All minor damages would he left for Mr Bain to report on. Mr Bain has had considerable experience in the maintenance of buildings, and was most trustworthy. The archives of the office would not perhaps show all the inspections which had been made: the files might not be complete. Witness knew the Su-kum-poo market. It was erected in 1858, It had never come specially under witness notice. It had never been reported as being struc-

in the Colony. About three weeks ago it was inspected by Mr Howroyd, the new clerk of works, who reported a few minor repairs which were needed, amounting to about $40. These were at once done. Witness had seen the market since it fell. Witness was quite satisfied with the state in had been caused by the pressure of the wind acting on the roof, which caused a tie beam, partially eaten by white ants, to give way. This beam rested on a stone post, 9 inches square at the top, and its breaking caused the rest of the roof in that part of the building to fall. The beam which broke was of Manila hardwood and was 9 inches by 5 inches. As far as witness could see it was perfectly sound, with just the exception of the end, which was eaten through about one third of its thickness, and nine inches of its length. The beam was bolted into the top of the stone post, and had tenoned into it a post supporting a ventila tor, andhere the ants had begun their work. They had taken away about one half of the strength of the beam. Witness was of opinion that no signs of white auts would be visible from the outside. To discover this it would have required a very strict and minute examination, and witness could expect no more from the Clerk of Works than what he reported to

I have just heard of the extent of the damage done here amongst the Chinese shipping during the late storm. No than one hundred craft have sustained material injuries, and of these sixty-one are total wrecks. Nearly one and all were sampans or house-boats and only two large the boats were wrecked between 8 and 10 o'clock on Friday evening, as the gale reached its climax just about that time. Four large cargo-boats went ashore at about 6 p.m. directly in front of the Harbour Master's Office, and were broken to pieces in an incredibly short space of time. So far. I believe, no loss of life has been recorded; a circumstance which, in the face of so many total wrocks, is most remarkable. THE CHINA REVIEW.

THE widely-expressed regret at the dis-· continuance of Notes & Queries on China and Japan, has induced the publishers of this journal to issue a publication similar in object and style, but slightly modified in certain details. THE CHINA REVIEW, or Notes and Queries on the Far East, is insued at intervals of two months, each number containing about 60 octavo pages, occasionally. illustrated with lithographs, photographs, woodcute, &c., should the papers published demand, and the circulation justify, such extra matter.

The subscription is fixed at $6.50 postage paid, per annum, payable by non-residents in Hongkong half-yearly in advance.

The publication includes papers original and selected upon the Arts and Sciences, Ethnology, Folklore, Geography, History, Literature, Mythology, Mannors and Customs, Natural History, Religion, &c., &c., of China, Japan, Mongolia, Tibet, the Eastern Archipelego and the "Far East" generally. A more detailed list of subjects upon which contributions are especially invited is incorporated with each number. Original contributions in Chinese, Latin, French, German, Spanish, Italian or Portuguese, are admissible. Endeavours are made to present a resumé in each number of the contents of the most recent works bearing on Chinese matters. Great attention is also paid to the Review department. Notes and Replies are classified together as "Notes" (head references being given, when furnished, to previous Notes or Queries), as are also those queries which though asking for information, furnish new or unpublished details concerning the matter in hand. It is desirable to make the Queries proper as brief and as much to the point as possible.

The China Review for July and August, 1875, is at hand. It says that forty-two essays were sent in to compete for the best paper on the advantages of Christianity for the development of a State. All our learned societies should subscribe to this scholarly Temperance Hall, specially adapted for and enterprising Review. It is a sixty paged, bi-monthly, repertory of what scholars are ascertaining about China. The Sailors' Home, West Point. lecture on Chinese Poetry in this volume is plone worth the price of the Review. Addrees China Review. Hongkong.-Northern Ohristian Advocate (U.S.)

Tribner's Oriental Record contains the following notice of the China Review :- " This Is the title of a publication, the first number of which has lately reached us from Hongkong, where it has been set on foot as in some respects a continuation of Notes and Queries on China and Japan, the extinction of which useful serial a year or two ago has been much regretted in Europe as well as in China. The present publication, judging by the number now before us, is intended to occupy a rosition, as regards China and the neighbouring countries, somewhat similar to that which has been filled in India by the Calculta Review. The great degree of attention that has been bestowed of late years upon the investigation of Chinese literature, antiquities, and social developments, to say nothing of linguistic studies, has led to the accumulation of important stores of informstion, rendering some such channel of publicity as is now provided extremely desirable; and contributions of much interest may fairly be looked for from the members of the foreign consular services, the Chinese Customs' corps, and the missionary body, among whom a high degree of Chinese scholarship is now assiduously cultivated, and who are neverally represented in the first number of the Review by papers highly creditable to their respective authors. In s paper on Dr. Legge's She King, by the Rev. E. J. Eitel, to which the place of honour is deservedly given, an excellent summary is presented of the chronological problems and arguments involved in connexion with this important work. Some translations from Chinese novels and plays are marked by both accuracy and freshness of style; and an account of the career of the Chinese poet-statesman of the eleventh century, Su Tung-p'o, by Mr. E. C. Bowra, is not only historically valuable, but is also distinguished by its literary grace. Beside notices of new books relating to China and the East, which will be a useful feature of | 7 the Review, if carried out with punctuality and detail, we are glad to notice that "Notes" and "Queries" are destined to find a place in its pages also. It is to be hoped that this opening for contributions on Chinese subjects may evoke a similar degree of literary zeal to that which was displayed during the lifetime of its predecessor in the field, and that the China Review may receive the support necessary to insure its continuance. The publication is intended to appear every two months, and will form a substantial octavo magazine.

It is the first Chinese Newspaper ever issued under purely native direction. The chief support of the paper is of course derived from the native community, amongst whom also are to be found the guarantors and securities necessary to place it on a business and legal footing. The projectors, basing their estimates upon the most reliable information from the various Ports in China and Japan .from Australia, California, Singapore, Penang, Saigon, and other places frequented the Chinese -- consider themselves justified in guaranteeing an ultimate circulation of between 3,000 and 4,000 copies. The advantages offered to advertisers are therefore unusually great, and the foreign community generally will find It to their interest to avail themselves of Money Order Regulations.

1 -- Money Orders are exchanged with the United Kingdom, New South Wales, Queensland, South Australia and Port Darwin, the Straits Settlements, Western Australia, and (except at Shanghai) with the Japanese Empire. Hongkong also issues orders on Shaughai, and vice versa.

2.—9mall sums may be remitted between the other Ports by means of Postage Stamps, subject to a charge of one per cent. for cashing them.

3.-Many Money Orders are supplied to residents at the smaller Ports in this way. An application for an order* is filled up. and is enclosed with a stamped directed, and unsealed envelope to the Postmaster at the nearest issuing office. The application must be accompanied with the full amount (including commission) in cheque, postage Yang-wei stamps, or other equivalent of cash, and a little margin should be left for variations of exchange. The Postmaster issues the order, sends it on in the envelope, and returns the change, if any, by first opportunity, with a receipt for the letter, if it were to be registered, as it always should be. Care should be taken to send these applications in time, as the Money Order Offices close some hours before the departures of the mails.

4.-No order must exceed £10, or $50, or include any fraction of a penny, nor will more than two such orders be issued to the same rerson, in favour of the same payee, by the same mail. Orders will be drawn at the current rate of the day! and paid at the rate of the day when the advice arrived.

The commission is as follows :---Orders on the United Kingdom.
